La Coume du Roy ... a grand cru wine

Archive photos. Indicative description non contractual.

With AB Corporate Aviation, escape to discover something new in the heart of the Fenouillèdes, in the valley of Agly, on the border between Aragon and Catalan lies the village of Maury with its vineyards and sweet fortified wine.

A private plane will take you to Perpignan, France, the capital of French Catalan, with the time of departure of your choice. From there, you can discover the region and travel without any stress and in total relaxation to the Coume du Roy estate, a family-owned vineyard that has been producing marvelous wines since 1850.

The grapes, the sun and patience, the love of the good and the beautiful, these are the ingredients of the incredible Maury cru. The wine is suave and warm, with a shimmering robe and partially fermented, it is produced from the Grenache varietal and harvested at maturity.

After a visit of the site and a wine tasting in the wine cellars where the family history can be read on the wine labels, since the wines from the year of birth of each "inheritor" are stored there, you can select the wines of your choice. The oldest wine for sale is from the 1925 vintage. But what can be said about the 1932 vintage that is still in its original cask! And for chocolate lovers, the owners advise the 1998 or 2002 vintages, or else the 1999 vintage with very dark chocolates or salted dishes with a truffles or mushrooms base.

Up to you then to enjoy a cookout over grapevine clippings, or rabbit with escargots, typical Catalan dishes, in one of the excellent restaurants in the region.

You'll go away from this escapade keeping in your baggage and memories the marvelous fragrances from the South of France.
